- Robert Weaver joined Morgan Stanley in 1991. Bob is responsible for global coordination of Morgan Stanley's Private Capital Markets group, including the coverage of global institutional capital sources for all real estate investment banking services offered by Morgan Stanley. The Private Capital Markets group has professionals in the United States, Europe, Asia, and Australia who develop investment products and intermediate private real estate capital flows on behalf of our clients on an advisory basis. The Private Capital Markets team also provides advisory and restructuring services to both general partners and investors in the context of real estate related recapitalizations.
- Prior to joining Morgan Stanley Real Estate in 1994, Bob was a generalist in the Firm's investment banking department working principally on merger and acquisitions, corporate restructurings, and public financings. Bob began his professional career with Chemical Bank's Banking and Corporate Finance Group
- Bob received his M.B.A. from the J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management at Northwestern University, and graduated from St. Lawrence University with a BA in Government
