

Aaron Brown is risk manager at AQR Capital Management and author of The Poker Face of Wall Street (Wiley, 2006, selected as one of the ten best books of 2006 by Business Week) and A World of Chance (Cambridge University Press, 2008, with Reuven and Gabrielle Brenner). In his 27-year Wall Street career, he has worked as a trader, portfolio manager, head of mortgage securities and risk manager for institutions including Morgan Stanley, Citigroup and Prudential Insurance; and he also did a stint as a finance professor. He is a regular columnist in Wilmott quantitative finance magazine and a frequent contributor to the professional literature. He serves on the editorial board of the Global Association of Risk Professionals and the National Book Critics Circle. He lives on the upper west side of Manhattan with his wife and two school-age children.