

Amitabh Arora

Managing Director, Co-Head of Liquid Markets Strategies

Amitabh Arora heads the G4 rates strategy effort covering government securities, interest rate derivatives and inflation products. Rigorous analyses of significant macro developments (e.g. Conundrum, central bank reserve accumulation) and quantitative tools for view development distinguish the team's research.

Prior to his current role, he was the head of the mortgage modeling group, charged with developing valuation models for the mortgage business.

Mr. Arora has a Ph.D. in finance from Columbia Business School and presents frequently at Columbia Business School on financial developments.