This white linen establishment is the perfect place for a special “date night.” It is casual enough that it won’t break your bank, but formal enough to impress your guests. We go to GIO when we are looking for a quieter dinner, as the atmosphere is a bit more subdued. The food portions are pretty standard for a restaurant of this caliber, but the options will certainly have you drooling over the menu. We recommend the Lobster Mezzaluna for pasta lovers, and the Honey-Balsamic Glazed Salmon for seafood enthusiasts. On Friday night, local Evanstonians will pack it in, so make reservations if you want to guarantee a seat between. And, there is a private room available in the back if you want to get a group together. No fee, just make sure to invite 25 or more guests.

This pleasant restaurant is a cross between a chinese stir-fry and a buffet. For one price, you have unlimited access to the “salad bar,” a large array of veggies, noodles, meats and sauces. Put your selections in a bowl, hand it to the stir-friers, when it’s cooked it’s delivered to your table. You can have it made into soups, moo shoo, or regular stir-fry. Its as good as you can make it. Two things to note: it is a better deal at lunch, and the line gets atrociously long on Fri. and Sat. nights.

Don’t leave without trying the fruit smoothies with tapioca pearls.
