Course Load: Each term in at Recanati runs 13 or 14 weeks and is divided into two modules. Exchange students can stay for two modules or come for one module only. Exchange students are expected to take 4-6 credits of courses per term. Most of the courses are one credit, a credit being equivalent to two academic hours of lectures once a week, for 14 weeks. For the concerted 7 week module, the time is four academic hours. One credit at Recanati is equivalent to 4.3 ECTS.

Learning Expectations: The process of study combines frontal lectures with case studies and team work. The evaluation of class participation and attendance differs from class to class and is made at the teacher's discretion.

Grading: The TAU grading system is based on a scale of 0-100 scores: 100-95= excellent, 94-85= very good, 84-75= good, 74-65= fairly good, 64-60= fair, 60-0=fail.

Transcripts are sent by mail to both the school and the students.

Exams: Exams are held during the 2-3 weeks following the end of each module. All exams are written ones.

University facilities:

TAU magnificent 220-acre campus is noted for It's aesthetics appeal. It's lush foliage, attractive building and majestic lawns, where students bask in the sunshine between classes. Several libraries and computer centers are available. Social activities are plentiful and the campus sports and recreation center provides a broad range of activities.

Recanati Business School has up to date technological and electronic infrastructure that enables use of the latest teaching techniques. The classrooms are connected through a local area network, equipped with audio-visual, amplifying and screening systems. Throughout the building we have a local wireless network for students who carry laptops.

Student Services:

The office of Exchange Programs offers special cultural and social activities during each of the terms in Recanati.

The Student Union's "Buddy System" program offers many social activities to Exchange students both on campus and in Tel Aviv.

Internships:

Many companies in Israel demand at least a full year internship and some knowledge of Hebrew. As for this reason, not many exchange students are looking for internship. However some students contact the foreign embassies or other foreign companies and find short internships.

Exchange Coordinator Services: The office of Exchange Programs is very much oriented to ensuring that exchange students enjoy their stay at Recanati and does its best to attend to special personal needs and requirements.

Info Dissemination:

Students can get information regarding the exchange in Recanati through the web site, by email or by regular mail.
