

Speaker Bios

A CMO'S GUIDE TO AI

April 22-23, 2019

Kris Hammond

Bill and Cathy Osborn Professor of Computer Science, McCormick School of Engineering
Chief Scientist and Co-Founder, Narrative Science

Kristian Hammond is Narrative Science's chief scientist and a professor of computer science and journalism at Northwestern University. His research has been primarily focused on artificial intelligence, machine-generated content, and context-driven information systems.

He currently sits on a United Nations policy committee run by the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research (UNIDIR). He was also named 2014 innovator of the year by the Best in Biz Awards. He holds a PhD from Yale.