

Northwestern | Kellogg

The Dispute Resolution Research Center (DRRC) has maintained a strong presence in the conflict management community. Our center is committed to funding research and teaching in this area through awards, grants, post-doctoral fellowships and continued sponsorship of related organizations, such as the International Association of Conflict Management (IACM) and the Academy of Management (AOM). In the spring of 2019, we are hosting the DRRC Intergroup Conflict and Cooperation Conference, highlighting top interdisciplinary researchers with a focus on conflict and cooperation. We will continue to support student research by providing grants and sponsoring best student paper awards at the IACM and AOM. The DRRC remains committed to being one of the top resources for research on negotiations and conflict management.

Regards,

Cynthia S. Wang
Executive Director of the Dispute Resolution Research Center