EVENING & WEEKEND MBA
BRAVE LEADERS INSPIRE GROWTH IN PEOPLE, ORGANIZATIONS & MARKETS

GET STARTED ON YOUR PATH TO A KELLOGG MBA TODAY
Leaders worldwide pinpoint growth as the hardest challenge they must confront. More than half say it’s their top concern. Nearly three-quarters rank growth — whether it’s pertaining to people, organizations or markets — as more important than operational efficiency.

The world needs leaders who can meet the challenge of growth head-on — who can see possibilities that others can’t and take action with agility and courage.

KELLOGG CAN IGNITE YOUR GROWTH.

Our top-tier Evening & Weekend MBA Program is designed for intelligent, ambitious professionals who want to propel their leadership development without putting their careers on hold.

Master the skills and build the network to realize your highest career aspirations. Only Kellogg gives you the broadest array of global opportunities, an unparalleled approach to leadership development and a curriculum designed to develop brave leaders. Best of all, we deliver these through a flexible program that fits into a working professional’s life.
At the highest levels, being a Kellogg leader means being a leader who will question conventional thinking and challenge the status quo. It means making every team and every organization you touch better because you are there.

In very concrete terms, it means learning the architecture of collaboration and how to catalyze resources to lead positive change in organizations, communities and the world. It means understanding the demand side of markets to identify consumer wants and human needs and developing better products, services and solutions to meet them.

Being a Kellogg leader requires mastering the mindset and mechanisms of innovation, generating bold new ideas and making them happen. It also means developing a broader understanding of the public and private interface and knowing how to sustain organizations in a capitalistic economy firmly grounded in ethics and law.

This is what Kellogg believes. This is what we teach. This is what we practice, as we pioneer the evolution of management education to address the ever-growing complex challenges of the global marketplace.

As an alumna and dean, I invite those who share our passion and purpose to join our community.

Sally Blount ’92, Dean

Few people could make the leap from a top executive role to leading a startup, but Ann Hand ’99 has exactly what it takes. Hand was named one of Fortune’s “Most Powerful Women Entrepreneurs of 2013” as CEO of a startup that helped reimagine the construction industry. She now leads Super League Gaming, which is reinventing the video game experience. Super League brings recreational video game leagues to movie theaters for an on-site, team sports experience that encourages bonding and healthy competition.

Her in-class experiences at Kellogg spurred her to quickly become comfortable with ambiguity and to have the confidence to take and defend a credible point of view on industries outside of her own.

“Kellogg’s deep emphasis on the brand and consumer nurtured my entrepreneurial spirit. The ability to find rich insights from looking at data and trends differently is at the heart of any good startup: being able to see something that no one else sees.”

Evening & Weekend MBA Program
Leaders today depend on knowledge and insight within and across disciplines and functions to EFFECTIVELY SOLVE PROBLEMS.

At Kellogg, we ground our learning approach on the strengths of seven academic departments. Then, we complement it with four strategic initiatives that draw on the leading-edge thinking from these disciplines to address emerging business issues and identify the areas that present the greatest opportunities for growth.

This cross-disciplinary thought leadership model has led to unprecedented curricular innovation, including more than 100 electives on cutting-edge topics and in-demand industries.

As a result of our thought leadership, you’ll be better prepared to tackle the challenges that arise as you continue to grow in your career.
All businesses must continually find new ways to create value. You will learn how business leaders — whether at startups, middle-market companies or large corporations — discover new ideas and turn them into valuable goods and services.

Anticipating and meeting customers’ needs is essential in today’s economy. You will learn how business leaders create and reinvent markets through greater customer insight and focus.

Business leaders must increasingly balance their traditional role as manager with the emerging role of public advocate. You will learn how leaders capitalize on new opportunities and navigate among increasingly complex and powerful public stakeholders.

Technological change and globalization enable people and resources to be organized in new ways across time and space. You will learn how business leaders effectively manage within and across organizations.

What could be more important to an investment banker than studying finance? For Jim Reynolds ’82, it was Kellogg’s collaborative culture. Reynolds is co-founder, chairman and CEO of Chicago-based Loop Capital, a full-service investment bank, brokerage and advisory firm that provides creative capital solutions for corporate, governmental and institutional entities across the globe.

Reynolds found that the teamwork demanded by the Kellogg cross-disciplinary curriculum has been vital to his success in investment banking.

“Kellogg prepares you for top leadership with confidence and an outstanding skill set. The combination of finance and courses in other disciplines turned out to be an incredibly potent one-two punch for my career.”
ENGAGE WITH LEADING MANAGEMENT EXPERTS

Dynamic, accessible and passionate about teaching and learning, Kellogg faculty respect the rich experience you and your peers bring to the classroom.

Kellogg provides the broadest array of global offerings to help you develop the tools and mindset necessary to thrive in today's global economy.

The world is your classroom.

Global footprint.
Choose from courses that examine global issues in-depth and experiential learning opportunities that take students around the world.

Each global experience is offered in several international locations and presents a unique set of challenges to help bring your leadership vision to life:

- KELLOGG CAMPUS
- GLOBAL EXCHANGES
- GLOBAL INITIATIVES IN MANAGEMENT
- GLOBAL LAB
- INTERNATIONAL GROWTH LAB
- KELLOGG CORPS

YOUR GLOBAL EXPERIENCE AWAITS
RICH LEARNING EXPERIENCES

Kellogg offers short- and long-term experiences that work with your schedule so you can BUILD THE SKILL SET NEEDED TO LEAD CONFIDENTLY.

INTERNATIONAL GROWTH LAB

Team up with students from ESADE Business & Law School in Barcelona and Hong Kong University of Science and Technology to develop market-based growth strategies for international organizations. In a recent Growth Lab project, students devised an e-commerce strategy for Fluidra, a Spanish multinational group that specializes in sustainable water use.

GLOBAL INITIATIVES IN MANAGEMENT

Combine classroom learning with an in-country experience in this hands-on course. Students work in small groups to research and present a proposal or business plan relating to a specific country or region, gaining an in-depth understanding of topics such as social impact investing in Rwanda and Kenya, and renewable energy in the UK, Germany and Czech Republic.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGES

Study abroad at one of Kellogg’s eight partner institutions. Students have completed Global Exchanges in several cities around the world, including:

- Coller School of Business: Doing Business in Israel
- Copenhagen Business School: Sustainability and Social Responsibility in Scandinavia
- Guanghua School of Management: Doing Business in China
- École Supérieure des Sciences Économiques et Commerciales (ESSEC): The Global Manager in Europe
- Escola de Administração de Empresas de São Paulo da Fundação Getulio Vargas (FGV-EAESP): Doing Business in Brazil
- Melbourne Business School: Brand Management
SCALING FOR UNPRECEDENTED GLOBAL GROWTH

Scaling the world’s largest technology company from a few stores outside of the United States to hundreds of stores internationally is no small feat, as Nick Severino ’94 knows firsthand.

Severino credits Kellogg’s internationally-focused curriculum, which allows students to participate in global exchange programs and blend classroom learning with in-country experiences, for enabling him to acquire the global mindset necessary to succeed and uncover new opportunities.

“The most important global growth markets and the most innovative cities on the planet are increasingly in places that are not intuitive. Having these skills helps you tap into these emerging global growth markets, and the scale of the opportunity is enormous.”
In our team-based learning model, you’ll learn with and from a diverse community of driven, supportive and courageous professionals who come from a wide range of industries, functions and backgrounds. You’ll see how our collaborative approach elevates your leadership development, expands your connections in the Kellogg network and enhances your professional skill set.

EXPERIENCE KELLOGG’S DISTINCTIVE CULTURE

The Kellogg experience extends far beyond the classroom. As an Evening & Weekend MBA student, you will have the opportunity to take advantage of all Kellogg has to offer, including active student organizations, abundant on-campus services and a dedicated team based in Chicago to help ensure your success.

There are also numerous events focused on career development, networking and community building to further enrich your time here.

YOUR LEADERSHIP JOURNEY

THE KELLOGG LEADERSHIP JOURNEY (KLJ) is designed to accelerate your development as a brave leader in a setting that allows you to embrace new challenges and look holistically at your career and professional goals.

Led by Kellogg’s leadership faculty, this co-curricular program stresses the importance of reflection and accountability, helping you develop the self-awareness necessary to know who you are as a leader, where you want to go and how you’re going to get there.

KLJ occurs in three distinct phases throughout your time at Kellogg: Orientation, Leadership Immersion Retreat and Capstone.

Orientation

KLJ begins with a two-day immersive orientation, where you’ll delve into why you are here and explore the keys to leadership development, such as readiness, experience, reflection, intentionality and ownership. You will begin to explore who you are as a leader, reflecting upon what transformative events or crucible experiences have formed your leadership foundation.

Orientation also helps prepare you for your academic journey and foster meaningful relationships as you meet and share your experiences with others in the Kellogg community.
Leadership Immersion Retreat

At the midpoint of your academic experience, you will be invited to participate in the Leadership Immersion Retreat on the Evanston campus. Here, you will dive deeper into leadership by reflecting on your personal journey thus far.

The retreat features several talks by successful leaders as well as leadership frameworks from the faculty that focus on the “what” of leadership. Specifically, “What are you committed to doing on behalf of yourself and others?”

You’ll strengthen connections among your classmates and learn how you can thrive throughout the remainder of your Kellogg journey.

Capstone

KLJ concludes with a capstone immersion day. As the final phase of the Kellogg-guided program, the capstone’s intent is to serve as a launchpad for your lifelong growth as a leader. This is also the point where you’ll transition from your journey as a student to a Kellogg alum.

In this session, you will reflect on how to continue building your skills as a leader beyond your time at Kellogg. You’ll craft a roadmap for personal and professional growth, and work with faculty and fellow students to create a system of accountability for these goals and an environment for ongoing reflection.

When Scott Dorsey ’99 founded ExactTarget in 2000, few realized just how big internet marketing could be. Thanks to Kellogg’s innovative coursework, Dorsey took ExactTarget public on the NYSE in March of 2012 and sold the company to Salesforce.com for $2.5 billion in July of 2013.

Dorsey attended Kellogg during the dot-com boom and was able to take evening classes in entrepreneurship and innovation tailored to the most recent marketplace trends. After graduation, he used these lessons as the launchpad for his business.

“Kellogg provided me with tremendous inspiration and a world-class education that gave me the confidence to start ExactTarget and scale the business to heights beyond anyone’s expectations, including our own.”

FLEXIBLE OPTIONS TO SUIT YOUR LIFESTYLE

Kellogg’s offerings help you balance earning an MBA with maintaining a busy schedule.

In the Evening & Weekend MBA Program, you’ll choose a schedule that fits your lifestyle and a pace that matches your experience. With classes held on weeknights, Friday afternoons and evenings and Saturdays, you can earn a top-tier MBA without pausing your career.

PICK YOUR PACE

TRADITIONAL PACE
20.5 CREDITS REQUIRED, 1.25–5 YEARS TO GRADUATE
(average time is 2.5 years)

ACCELERATED OPTION
15.5 CREDITS REQUIRED, 1–4 YEARS TO GRADUATE
(average time is 2 years)

OPTIMAL FLEXIBILITY
Evening & Weekend students also have the option to take evening and daytime courses on the Evanston campus with the Full-Time MBA Program students, contingent on class availability.

CHOOSE YOUR SCHEDULE

EVENING
MONDAY - FRIDAY 6:00 TO 9:00 P.M.
Earn your MBA during the workweek as you gain insights from class and apply them at work the very next day. Take Saturday classes as your schedule permits.

WEEKEND
SATURDAYS 9:00 A.M. TO 12:00 P.M. AND/OR 1:30 TO 4:30 P.M.
The weekend schedule is ideal for students commuting from across the nation or locals who prefer the convenience of weekend learning. Take weeknight classes as your schedule permits.

If your undergraduate degree included in-depth study related to Kellogg’s core business courses, you may qualify for the Accelerated Option which allows you to dive into advanced electives sooner. It’s faster and less expensive than the traditional pace.
Anita Cohen ’11 had reached a pinnacle in her career. Not wanting to lose any momentum in her current job, she knew the Evening & Weekend MBA Program would be her answer. Despite the commute from New York to Chicago, she felt Kellogg was the right fit.

The weekend schedule allowed Cohen to fly in on weekends and apply learnings on Monday morning. The flexible schedule combined with her respect for her intelligent, curious and diverse peers, made it a worthy investment in her career.

“I refused to limit myself geographically or to short-sell my future. I’m certain my investment will pay back many times over. If you recognize the impact that a Kellogg MBA can have on your life, you’ll find the way and the means.”
The world needs brave leaders who can inspire growth. A Kellogg MBA is one of the best investments you can make in your future. Get started today to find out if Kellogg is the right fit for you.
