Q13. Name

Michael Golden

Q1. Which program did you participate in?

Mexico City - IPADE

Q2. Please describe the academic rigor, focus, and quality:

The academics were not that rigorous - there was more of a focus on Mexican culture than academics.

Q3. Professors and teaching style:

The program was case-based and the professors were very knowledgeable and did a great job facilitating discussion in the classroom.

Q4. Fellow participants (which schools were they from, how old, etc?):

There were students from all over the world, but the majority of students were from IPADE campuses of Mexico City and Monterrey

Q5. Please describe any company visits:

Q6. Social outings:

We took an organized trip to the temples at Teotihuacan. The trip was well-planned and everyone had a good experience

Q7. Accommodations:

The food that was provided at IPADE was delicious and provided often. The hotel (I stayed at the less expensive one) was fine. I felt like it was a bit expensive for what we got (especially considering how inexpensive everything else in Mexico City), but it was acceptable.

Q8. Best points of the experience:

Getting to know fellow students from Mexico and around the world was great. The Mexican students were very friendly and accommodating

Q9. Worst points or ideas for improvement:

The academic structure could have been a bit more well-developed

Q10. On a scale from 0-10, how likely are you to recommend this exchange program to a friend or colleague?

Q13. Name

Evan Gonzalez

Q1. Which program did you participate in?

IPADE

Q2. Please describe the academic rigor, focus, and quality:

The academics were strong as the professors were quite talented and the students were smart and engaged.

Q3. Professors and teaching style:

Similar to Kellogg.

Q4. Fellow participants (which schools were they from, how old, etc?):

They were from all over the world - Latin America, Europe, Asia, the US. The ages varied significantly as well - from 22 to 50. It was good because you could pick your spot.

Q5. Please describe any company visits:

Company visits were diverse and quite interesting.

Q6. Social outings:

All was fun.

Q7. Accommodations:

Hotels were fine but overpriced as the dollar is much stronger.

Q8. Best points of the experience:

The Cinopolis case and HR manager's speech.

Q9. Worst points or ideas for improvement:

The traffic was terrible after company visits. It may be better to move the timing around. CRIT could have been completed in the half the time.

Q10. On a scale from 0-10, how likely are you to recommend this exchange program to a friend or colleague?

Q13. Name

Jack Horgan

Q1. Which program did you participate in?

Doing Business in Mexico

Q2. Please describe the academic rigor, focus, and quality:

The schedule was very busy. Teachers did expect you to read the case. It was a regimented curriculum for case based classroom discussion and a group project.

Q3. Professors and teaching style:

100% Q&A based on cases

Q4. Fellow participants (which schools were they from, how old, etc?):

Very diverse mix. About half were second year students at the partner school. The remaining came from London, Paris, Signapore, Atlanta, and a host of other countries. Ages were dispersed.

Q5. Please describe any company visits:

There were several. The one to Bimbo, the bakery, sticks out. So does the one to Kidzania. They were mostly presentations about the company. I don't know if they just wanted to give previews of industries in Mexico, but the presentations didn't tie to any material. They were interesting though.

Q6. Social outings:

I had to miss the social outing to return for Saturday class. We did eat all meals together, which provided good social interaction.

Q7. Accommodations:

Hotel rooms were arranged. The hotels were very suitable.

Q8. Best points of the experience:

Learning from the Mexican students. Their honest feedback about the Mexican economy was much better than anything I have seen in articles or in the cases.

Q9. Worst points or ideas for improvement:

The project was difficult to understand and the grading of it was hard to translate.

Q10. On a scale from 0-10, how likely are you to recommend this exchange program to a friend or colleague?
