KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Andrew Youn '06

One Acre Fund Co-Founder

We are pleased to announce that Kellogg alumnus and founder of One Acre Fund, Andrew Youn '06 will be this year's convocation speaker. Founded in 2006, One Acre Fund only serves smallholder farmers in East Africa, providing farm inputs, finance and training to help farmers succeed. One Acre Fund has 7,000 staff members who serve more than 750,000 families per year and more than one million families via partnership. The organization aims to be the most impactful distribution network for life-improving goods in rural Sub-Saharan Africa.

CONFERRING THE ACADEMIC HOOD

Origins and symbolism

The tradition of conferring the academic hood has a long history. During the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, when universities were evolving in medieval Europe from their ecclesiastical beginnings, the ordinary dress of a scholar was that of a cleric. Inhabiting unheated monastic buildings, students and teachers wore long robes, often with hoods to cover tonsured heads. Over the centuries, academic garb gained educational status and shifted away from its former associations with practical dress. The clothing began to differ in length and color of lining and trim, based on degree, school and faculty, according to university prescription.

In the United States, most academic dress follows the general provisions of the Intercollegiate Code of 1895, as most recently revised in 1959. Under this code, the master's hood is three and one-half feet in length and the doctor's four feet. The velvet border of the hood is three and five inches wide for the master's and doctorate degrees, respectively. The hood is lined with satin in the official color of the school. At Northwestern, the hood is lined in purple (the school's color) with gold chevrons. The color of the hood's border indicates the type of degree being awarded: dark blue velvet is the universal PhD, acorn velvet is the universal MBA.
